

'Battle Between King Arthur and Sir Mordred' by William Hatherell

'[T]he two contenders met, with all their troops, on the field of Camlan to negotiate. Both sides were fully armed and desperately suspicious that the other side was going to try some ruse or stratagem. The negotiations were going along smoothly until one of the knights was stung by an asp and drew his sword to kill the reptile. The others saw the sword being drawn and immediately fell upon each other. A tremendous slaughter ensued. The chronicle ... is quite specific about the point that the slaughter was excessive chiefly because the battle took place without preparations and premeditation.'

- Herman Kahn, On Thermonuclear War

January 18, 2021

In many ways today, Washington DC is very much like that place Camlan. There are some who say that the name Camlan means a twisted and crooked enclosure. I believe no honest-hearted observer can deny that this Washington District of Columbia is not also itself such 'a twisted and crooked enclosure...', One that seems to entrap and envelop even the most well-intentioned men and women.

Add to this the cloudiness brought upon the masses of the mainstream media who hide facts and selectively chose what to share with those too lazy to do their own research and you have a recipe for disaster. As I frequently tell my friends, "Get in the habit of giving breathless headlines of the day a 72 hour rule. Ask yourself, 'is it really so? Learn to do your own research instead of waiting for MSM/Google/FaceBook/Twitter to cloud your mind. Learn to find and read the various daily disclosures which are on record."

Almost four years ago, Donald J. Trump entered the swamp of Washington DC after having won a surprise victory. It was one that nobody in the mainstream media or 'establishment' expected. Nobody, except for the true believers. In the preceding months Donald Trump had invigorated and revitalized tens of thousands of voters across race and socioeconomic class. He successfully connected with the long forgotten and overlooked, many of whom had given up and not participated in that singular act of voting so integral to the American way of life. It seemed a new day had truly dawned and America together we would 'Make America Great.'

I'll spare the reader the emotional ups and downs Trumps supporters have been through over the ensuing months and years... I can say firmly that it has been a fight, but an honorable fight and The United States of America is in a better place.

Since the apparent loss of a second term however, dark forces have gathered to push President Trump and his supporters into the history books, branding them white supremacists and domestic terrorist. This, despite a spring and summer filled with actual violence and mayhem which was led by supporters of the BLM, ANTIFA, and those bent on destroying the American way of life.

Like the gathered armies standing on that field of Camlan, one slip could ignite a conflagration such that none have witnessed before.

If you were once an enthusiastic supporter of Trump and have found yourself questioning whether he can pull this off, I invite you to step back from MSM, Twitter, and simply go through and read a few of the Executive Orders Trump has put in place over the last few years, many just within the last few months. Also, review some of the letters and moves made by people close to him and you may see a different outcome.

And so what follows is my read of things which will explain my optimism. I have even included my references.

In 2018, Trump established a cyber force specifically responsible for monitoring election fraud. Specific capabilities are known to include the ability to determine whether 'an adversary trying to go change a vote total, targeting election infrastructure, voter rolls.'ⁱ

In August 2020 the Director of National Intelligence John Ratcliffe notified members of congress that they would no longer be receiving in-person briefs on foreign election interference.ⁱⁱ

On September 10, 2020 this letter was sent to House Speaker Nancy Pelosi, extending the declaration of a national emergency and warning of foreign interference in the upcoming election.ⁱⁱⁱ

On the night of Tuesday November 3rd 2020 into the morning of the 4th, a full recording of those actions by outside actors was made. How do we know this? No evidence has been presented and the excuse, 'we wish to do so in court before a judge,' stated by Trumps legal team lead by Rudy Giuliani is difficult to swallow. For now, let's set aside talk of jurisprudence and continue as I make this point.

Weeks later, on November 30th cyber security expert Colonel Philip Waldron, when pressed on the matter by the Arizona State Legislature, "Are you willing to say under oath, that you've seen the connection to the internet, that you've seen it gone offshore to Frankfurt, Germany?" Col. Waldron: "Yes, our "White" hat hackers, they have that traffic and the packets." '[W]e have the packets.'

Those of you in tech will recognize just how damning his statement is. In other words, his team has a full recording of what transpired.

On November 18, 2020 the Special Operations Command was stood up by Acting Defense Secretary Chris Miller, himself a decorated combat veteran.^{iv} SOC report directly to SecDef Miller now, rather than up through The Joint Chiefs. Most people think of just Delta Force, Green Berets, Rangers, and Navy Seals. They overlook the Air Force's 24th Special Tactics Squadron, the Army Intelligence Support Activity (ISA), its Regimental Reconnaissance Company (RRC), and the DoD's Joint Communications Unit (JCU). If ever there was a group within the United States Armed Forces loyal to The President of The United States, it is the fighters and support staff within SOC.

It is an established fact that Special Operations forces have done 'wet work' for the CIA. Shortly after the November 18th announcement, it was made known that this would come to an end effective January 5, 2021^v.

The link between military special forces and that feared covert operations arm of the United States intelligence community, implicated in hundreds of crimes around the world ranging from regime change, political assassination, to torture and abduction of innocent civilians, would finally come to an end.

On December 10, 2020 an Executive Order that re-did the Order of Succession was issued.^{vi} That document removed the military from succession, making possible a civilian leadership within a transitional government.

Foreign influence in the election of 2020 here in the United States is an established fact. Suppression of this fact was performed by the CIA. There is no question, and on January 7 2021 DNI John Ratcliffe released his findings on the matter in a letter to congress.^{vii}

DNI Ratcliffe's letter invokes emergency economic powers that, among other things, include property seizure.^{viii}

President Trump has approved the declaration of an emergency within the District of Columbia^{ix}. He has in place all of the things necessary, including the upwards of 20,000 National Guard troops who report directly to him through Major General William Walker^x.

So why not do a big reveal? The longer Trump waits, the more people decide to abandon him, and he determines who supports him and who does not. Observe how many Republicans accepted a rushed attempt to impeach him on January 6th.

Either way you slice it, the next phase of American History begins Wednesday January 20, 2021. I believe it will be with the sudden laying bare and (relatively) quick destruction of a political, media, and intelligence machine that cheated the American Patriots of that most sacred right, their vote... Or, Biden / Harris are sworn in and The United States ceases to be, as Patriots can be assured of never having a free and fair election again.

^{iv} For those of you who communicate with me regularly, you know that it was on this day after I read the official announcement from Chris Miller that I came to the conclusion that Trump now had a path to use the Insurrection Act to toss out the 2020 Election results.
